

TALKIN' ABOUT A REVOLUTION: THE LEGACY OF '68

Frank Furedi

Manifesto Club member, former student radical and agitator in 1968, now agitated radical humanist and professor of sociology at the University of Kent.

Maria Grasso

Manifesto Club member, chair of the Institute of Ideas Post-Grad Forum and sociologist investigating the decline of political engagement in Western Europe

Lee Jones

Doctoral student in International Relations at Nuffield College, Oxford, who argues that "the '68ers were possibly the most disappointing generation ever produced by Western Society."

A MANIFESTO CLUB NIGHT

Join us for a drink to discuss what happened to the radicals of '68. Was it all just hopeless naiveté and youthful extravagance? Could we learn from the sixties spirit of humanist optimism; or should we just get real and explore the possibilities of our own time? www.manifestoclub.com

Tuesday 22 April Doors open 7pm;

discussion begins 8pm

Entry: £5 (free for members)
